

Home Page Image: The opacity of the homepage shutterstock image is 61% and there is then a background colour behind it which is black #000000.

Font used throughout site is Open Sans, except for the nav bar, which is Avenir Light. You will see that in the Wix template, where you can check all the fonts used.

Colours used are also in the wix template, you can check them by clicking on each object.

Nav bar background is white and should be fixed or frozen.

The background of the other pages, which contain text eg. Services page, are a light grey #F7F7F7

I have sent you over the large image for the homepage. I will have the other three images for the services page for you tomorrow although I don't know the exact sizes they need to be. Will you let me know the exact sizing or do they need to be resized? I have also sent over the Joyceprint logo in both colour and in white. Let me know what size I need to make that as well for this new template, as I don't want it to look stretched.

Sorry but Dad is still coming up with his 'About us' text so maybe you could just go ahead with laying out the main template using the 'about us' text I have used for the wix site for now?

For the services page you could just use dummy text there for now, because I am going to try and get the three small paragraphs of text on the services page the same length, so they will all kind of fit together, rather than one being longer than the other.
